Litter to Fill 180,000 Barrels Swept Up Yearly

"If we stacked our annual accumulation of road litter and debris vertically in ordinary household trash barrels it would make Jack's beanstalk look silly," County Supervisor Burton W. Chace said last week.

"As a matter of fact," Chace declared, "the stack would reach over 100 miles into the ionosphere into the orbit of Col. John Glenn's recent flight."

The supervisor made the statement to call attention to the carelessness of motorists and others who are still littering county roads with trash ranging from candy bar wrappers to worn-out mattresses.

"We Southern Californians are rapidly becoming a breed of statistic-conscious citizens," Chace continued. "Statements as to how many millions of people in the year 1980 will be riding in how many millions of vehicles on so many thousands of miles of our highways have become commonplace and not too newsworthy."

NEVERTHELESS, Chace pointed out that the L. A. County Road Department, in addition to its varied road activities, carries on a program of street sweeping in which more than 40,000 cubic yards of debris are removed yearly from its rights of way in the unincorporated areas of the county alone.

Trash swept from the county's 4,000 miles of roads and that from 900 miles of city streets annually would fill more than 180,000 common household trash barrels. County service on city streets is done under contract for 18 of the municipalities within the county.

The current annual appropriation for power street-sweeping is more than $600,000. Forty power street sweepers are required to do this work, including operators and pick-up personnel as well as district crews who work on trash pick-ups.

IN AREAS that cannot be readily covered by mechanical sweepers, hand street sweeping is provided through the use of Bureau of Public Assistance personnel wherever possible. Most of the county's major and secondary highways are posted with adequate anti-litter signs warning motorists of heavy penalties to be invoked if they are caught and successfully prosecuted for littering the street. Few, if any violators have been prosecuted under this county ordinance.

The answer? Chace thinks there is only one answer to the sticky problem.

"During my nine years as a county supervisor I have noticed a growing pride in Los Angeles County and its many cities on the part of residents," Chace concluded.

"When a man points with pride and says, 'this is my home town,' he is not going to desecrate its streets with litter."

EVEN USUALLY reliable Dave Birmingham was outdistanced in the shot put, where a superb 55-1 effort by Kurt Colberg shoved Birmingham's 52-8 heave into second place. Tim Knowles, 100 victor, also captured the 220 for the Vikings as Bennett came in third.

It was not until the broad jump that John Anderson, sailing 21-3 1/4, could bring home another South first place.

ANDERSON and Hanson deadlocked in the high jump at 5-8 to give the Spartans some much needed points.

Chuck Smith vaulted 12-0 to vie South top honors in the pole vault.

SANTA MONICA swept both the Bee and Cee divisions, winning 79-16 and 66-20 in the respective classes.

On Tuesday, the Spartans will travel to Hawthorne for a 3 p.m. encounter.

Legislature in Session Until Late in April, Chapel Says

By Charles Edward Chapel
46th Assembly District

The 30-day Budget Session ends at midnight, Tuesday, April 3, 1962. The Governor has issued several "calls" for special sessions which run concurrently with the Budget Session but can continue after the end of the Budget Session. This means the Legislature definitely remains in session until midnight, Tuesday, April 3, and must thereafter continue in session until we complete our work on the bills introduced as a result of the "calls" for special sessions issued by the Governor.

Nobody can say when we will adjourn, but it is obvious that we cannot adjourn, under any conditions, before midnight, Tuesday, April 3, and it will be sometime later in April before we are through.

MANY MEMBERS of the Legislature, especially those from Los Angeles County, have asked me to issue this statement because all of us, both Republicans and Democrats, are receiving many urgent requests to attend meetings, rallies, dinners and other public events held in our home districts in cities adjacent to our home districts during March and April.

Since the adjournment date is uncertain, the only firm commitments I have made for public appearances in Los Angeles County are for the month of May, although I am just as anxious as anyone to complete our work and return home. However, if we can adjourn early in April, all of us will issue public announcements and the newspapers will carry the story on their own account.

WHILE THE Legislature is in session, all mail for me should be addressed thus: Charles Edward Chapel, Member of the Assembly, Room 4001, Assembly Chambers, State Capitol, Sacramento 14, Calif.

If you want to write to any other Member of the Assembly, simply substitute his name in the above phraseology, and if you do not know his room number, the mail will reach him without it, although it expedites delivery if you use a very complete address.

IF YOUR LETTER is something which requires Senate action as well as action by the Assembly, in addition to writing to your own Member of the Assembly, please write to Senator Richard Richards, Room 3078, Senate Chambers, State Capitol, Sacramento 14, Calif.

It saves time if you write to either your Assemblyman or State Senator an original letter and mail a carbon copy to the other man, but this is not the best method because the man who gets the carbon copy usually assumes the man who received the original is expected to do the work and that the carbon copy is intended only to alert the recipient. Therefore, I suggest that you write an original letter to both your own Assemblyman and your State Senator and indicate that you also are writing to the other man.

WHEN YOU HAVE a problem, question, or suggestion that a Member of the Assembly or a Senator can handle without consulting some California State bureau, department, division, or board, it is not necessary to enclose a carbon copy with your original letter; but if you have any doubt about it, enclose the carbon copy. The reason is simple.

When I get a letter which requires a legal opinion or information which I cannot give without consulting other people, and when such letter is not accompanied by a carbon copy, my secretary must at least make detailed notes, and frequently must type a copy, before your letter and my own cover letter is sent to the appropriate people for information or action. This is done so that I have a complete file on the case and can follow up if action outside my office is not taken promptly at my request.

IF YOU HAVE ideas about what the United States, the County Board of Supervisors, your city, or your local school board should do, please write to the appropriate officials because they naturally resent having the state officials tell them how to run their business.

The only exception to this procedure is when you have already contacted the federal or local officials and failed to obtain satisfaction. In that case, I am glad to hear from you and pass on your ideas to the appropriate people with my respectful suggestion that they read their mail. Of course, this does not add to my popularity with those who get such mail.
